

Jolkona is a start-up non-profit based in Seattle, WA that lets people choose how to impact the world through small donations (starting at just $5!), and unlike other micro-giving websites, we provide tangible proofs of impact for every donation. Our mission is to connect people with global philanthropic opportunities and show the impact of one's donations. Jolkona.org launched to the public in June 2009 with a goal of making giving more fun, transparent and engaging for all donors, regardless of age or income.

Jolkona is made possible by two fulltime staff and a group of dedicated volunteers who feel passionate about the giving model we've pioneered. We're currently looking to fill the following volunteer position on our leadership team.
